1. Discover InterCellar

The next-gen wine & spirits marketplace

Intercellar transforms wine and spirits into digital assets with NFTs, allowing easy, secure trading and investment in fine bottles. With guaranteed authenticity, secure storage, and access to exclusive collections, it's the ultimate way to invest in the world of luxury wines.

Our vision is to make fine wine and spirits collection accessible and enjoyable for everyone.

Intercellar is a Web3 Marketplace that allows the acquisition and exchange of exclusive bottles of wine and spirits. It offers wineries and brands the opportunity to share their history and products with a younger, digital Web3 community, while establishing a direct contact with the consumer. Intercellar solves recurrent problems of the industry: storage, traceability, liquidity and environmental footprint; adding to it a most innovative customer experience.

2. Intercellar Platform

a. Acquire Wine

Marketplace

We carefully select and work in close collaboration with the producers / brands to support them and bring their wines to you. Within the marketplace you can find all the wines and spirits curated by InterCellar's team offered for sale by the producers themselves.

Mention "En Primeur": method of purchasing wine carried out while the wine is still aging in barrels, before bottling and its official market launch.

All "En Primeur" wines contains a "Deliverability" date, meaning when the wine will have aged enough it will be ready for delivery. The digital twin can be freely traded meanwhile.

Drops

Bottles, collections, limited editions are sold at drops events. These events happen times to times and are communicated through our socials. So, make sure to follow us to get the news first.

These drops can have several formats: fixed price sale, auction, first come first served or airdrop. At the end of this drop, your InterCellar digital twin will be sent directly to your wallet and visible in your digital cellar.

Secondary Market

Past the initial drops operated by InterCellar's you can also find wines place for sale by other collectors. It can be a chance to find bargains or rare wines not for sale anymore. You can list, bid or purchase your digital twins directly on the InterCellar Marketplace. Only your digital twin is exchanged, the physical asset does not move, this way it helps reducing carbon footprint and ensure safest storage conditions for the wine all along.

Technology

Each bottle (or item) will be assigned a corresponding NFT. The NFTs (digital twins) are minted on the Polygon blockchain. A layer 2 of Ethereum, known as one of the least energy-consuming and fastest blockchains.

Authenticity

On InterCellar, wineries & spirit brands mint and sell their wines / spirits directly, without intermediaries. The bottles are stored at the brand's warehouse or transferred straight from the brand's warehouse to our secure storage, where they are insured and kept at a controlled temperature. When you redeem your bottle, you can verify the shipment by comparing the code on the bottle with your digital NFT code.

Payment Method

Drops by Intercellar: Euros through Credit/Debit Card, USDC on Polygon chain.

Secondary Market: USDC on Polygon chain.

b. Store Wine

Once the digital twins are minted, your bottles remain stored in our accredited warehouses, ensuring optimal provenance and conditions. You'll be able to monitor your stocks in real time and access proof of reserve. No more worries about your storage conditions, your wines will be ready to be delivered or resold.

Storage fee is 0.2€ / bottle / month, the storage fees will be offered for all holders of CELLAR token for one year as from its official launch (date to be announced on our socials).

"En primeur" items are not considered deliverable and storage charges are only applied to them from the "deliverability date".

Insurance

InterCellar takes care of your bottles. Our insurance covers 100% of the value of the bottles, from the storage area to delivery to your door, in the event of breakage, theft or loss

c. Get delivered

InterCellar delivers to more than 40 countries worldwide. Potential custom clearance fees are not included. Please check local regulations or contact InterCellar for any information.

You can redeem your bottle at any time by filling out a redeem form. By redeeming the bottle, you'll be exchanging the digital version for the physical one, which means the visual of your NFT will change to indicate that the NFT is no longer backed by a physical asset. It's essential to note that there is no going back once you redeem it, and you won't have access to the initial digital token anymore. When redeeming, you'll need to enter your shipping address, and you must comply with your jurisdiction's rules to receive the bottle. We will ship your bottle safely using priority and insured mail. The redeemer will be responsible for covering the shipping, duties and potential storage costs, which will only be incurred when the physical bottle is redeemed.

Rooted in bordeaux: a strategic choice for intercellar's growth

At InterCellar, we are exceptionally proud to be headquartered in France, particularly in Bordeaux. In an industry where many companies operate from distant or tax-advantaged countries, we've chosen to remain rooted in France, reflecting our commitment to the wine and spirits sector. Our decision to base operations in Bordeaux brings us closer to the world's finest brands, enhances team cohesion, and positions us for sustainable growth. Here's why this location is key to our success:

- Strategic Location for Sourcing: Being based in Bordeaux, France, puts us in close proximity to the largest and most prestigious wine and spirits brands, including those from Champagne, Cognac, Bordeaux, and Burgundy. This proximity strengthens our ability to source and collaborate with these iconic names, making Bordeaux an obvious choice for our headquarters.
- Commitment to a French Unicorn: In our mission to become a French unicorn, we actively engage with state organizations such as BPI (Banque Publique d'Investissement), the CCI (Chamber of Commerce), and relevant ministries, including agriculture and digitalization. Being headquartered in France allows us to benefit from these essential partnerships as we scale.

- Team Cohesion: Two-thirds of our team, around 10 people, are based in our Bordeaux office. In the early stages of a startup, physical presence in a shared office fosters stronger relationships and teamwork, which are key to building a successful company culture.
- Centralizing Operations: Bordeaux will serve as the central hub for our marketing efforts and future media initiatives, such as launching our own podcast. Centralizing these activities helps streamline our operations and ensure consistent growth.
- World Capital of Wine and Spirits: Bordeaux, the global capital of wine and spirits, offers unparalleled advantages for a company like InterCellar. This strategic location not only enhances our industry connections but also reinforces our identity as a leader in the wine and spirits market.
- Token Issuance from France: Unlike many companies that issue tokens from tax havens like Dubai, InterCellar is proud to issue its token from France, further solidifying our commitment to operating transparently and ethically from our home base.
